RUSH WARSHIPS TO MEXICO

U. S. GUNS MAY AWE CARRANZA

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Admiral Caperton, in charge of the cruiser division of the Atlantic fleet at Guantanamo, was ordered today to proceed to Vera Cruz with the United States battleship Georgia and the battle cruiser Washington.

Admiral Caperton and the two warships named were designated for Mexican duty by Admiral Fletcher, on orders from Secretary of the Navy Daniels after a conference with President Wilson.

With these two vessels the United States will have three first class battleships, two cruisers and two gunboats off Carranza's temporary capital to exercise "moral suasion," on the constitutional chief to consider seriously the demands for the protection of foreigners made in the peremptory note sent to Carranza by Secretary of State Bryan.

Russian Flag Led Allied Fleet in Dardanelles

LONDON, March 9.—A dispatch to the morning Post from Petrograd says:

"In order to emphasize the solidarity of the allied powers a striking departure from naval custom marked the entrance of the allied fleet into the Dardanelles. The Russian cruiser Askold was invited to take the Russian flag into the strait ahead of the other flags. The ordinary procedure would have been for the British flag to lead, because the English force is the strongest and because the whole fleet is commanded by an Englishman."

Heavy Selling in the Cotton Market

NEW YORK, March 9.—Heavy selling of July on the call created an easier tone in the cotton market today. First prices were four points higher to five points lower. The sales of July by one operator exceeded 10,000 bales, and this was supposed to be hedges for German interests against cotton held in the South. After the call the market was quiet, with prices two to four points under last night's closing.

Thousands of Turks Taken by Russians

PETROGRAD, March 9. — Four pashas, 57 Turkish officers and 17,675 men have been captured by the Russians to date, it was officially announced today.

RUSSIANS SHELL TURK DEFENCES

LONDON, March 9.—The Russian fleet reported on its way to join in the attack at Constantinople, attacking from the Black Sea side, has struck its first blow against the Sultan.

In an official announcement, published today, on behalf of the Russian Naval General Staff, the story of the shelling of three Turkish coaling stations is told. The announcement reads:

"On Sunday our fleet bombarded Zunguldak, Kozlou and Kilimli (ports on the Black Sea), destroying all structures and plants for the shipment of coal. The bombardment was followed by a terrific explosion and fire.

"Forty lighters were sunken and eight steamers destroyed. Our casualties are three men wounded."

Meanwhile the battle royal for the Dardanelles stands without precedent in naval history, today continues.

Although slightly damaged by Turkish mines, at 21,000 yards, almost twelve miles, the huge battleship Queen Elizabeth of the British squadron, assisted by smaller ships,

Bet One to Ten on Five-Year War

LONDON, March 9.—One of the most famous betting books in London is a musty volume wherein members of the Books Club have recorded for more than a century and a quarter their wagers upon all sorts of questions including the duration of the war or the fall of a ministry. The last bet appearing in its pages is $250 to $25 that the present war will be over before five years.

Wheat Advances Sharply in Pit

CHICAGO, March 9.—Wheat was sharply higher on the Board of Trade, openings being, May 152 and July 131, compared with 149¾ and 114¾ at yesterday's close. Corn was up ¾ to 1c. Oats and provisions were practically unchanged.

'SANITY OF THAW NOT INVOLVED'

NEW YORK, March 9.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw gave a sudden new turn to the trial of Harry K. Thaw today by announcing her readiness to take the stand in behalf of her husband.

"I believe that Harry Thaw has been persecuted. I believe that he should be set free. I am going to do everything in my power to help him. I shall volunteer to appear as a witnes for him if they want me to. I am going to communniate with his lawyers for that purpose."

Evelyn made this declaration when the District Attorney's office sent a process server with a subpoena to have her testify for the prosecution in the present trial. The process server did not serve the subpoena, and Thaw's wife will not be called by the prosecution.

Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy in his opening address for the prosecution declared that the question of Thaw's sanity was not involved.

"So far as this case is concerned it does not matter whether Thaw was sane or not. If he used illegal means to get out of Matteawan and if he plotted those illegal means with others and by the aid of the other did so escape, we maintain that he is guilty of conspiracy," said Mr. Kennedy.

He concluded with the demand that Thaw be sent back to Matteawan.

"Thaw was insane and a menace to public safety when Justice Dowling committeed him to Matteawan in 1908," asserted Kennedy. "Justices Morschauser, Mills and Keogh said as late as 1912 that he was still insane.

"He is insane yet. He has not shown yet that he is sane, though he has had every opportunity."

Mr. Stanchfield then moved that the indictment be dismissed because it did not allege crime, because it did not allege conspiracy, because it did not allege Thaw committed the act charged when he knew the nature of his acts, because it did not allege

Girl's Abductor Says He "Had Been Drinking"

The city marshal of Salem said this afternoon that Michael Ryan, when arrested in the Susan Tallent case, in the presence of Marshal Richardson, Inspector Barrett and Inspector Smith, made the following statement:

I know the Tallent girl's father quite well. The reason I was sent to the Island is because I kept a horse out two days longer than I paid for.

I called at the girl's home on Revere street last Friday. I don't remember anything about the visit. I had been drinking quite a little and I suppose that is the reason I took the girl to my room. She went of her own volition. At no time was there anything wrong between us. She made no effort to leave my room. She was badly in need of some clothing and I gave her some.

I worked in Salem five years ago on the Thomas farm on Highland avenue. I am a stationary fireman, but usually work in greenhouses.

I am divorced and live on Merriam street, Somerville, with my aunt. I am twenty-nine years old.

PLEA FOR JOB LEADS TO ARREST

Thomas H. Ryan, alias "S. T. Ellis," the man accused of luring away 14-year-old Susan Tallent of No. 98 Revere street, and keeping her a prisoner in a room on Dwight street over Sunday, was arrested in Salem today through a trap arranged by a man to whom he applied for work yesterday.

According to City Marshal Harrington of Salem, Ryan confessed that he was with the Tallent girl three days, but denied any improper conduct. He declared the girl showed no desire to leave him. He also pleaded, the city marshal said, that he was intoxicated at the time.

Ryan was brought to Boston on the noon train from Salem by Inspector Walker A. Smith.

Descriptions of "Ellis," as the man who enticed away Susan Tallent represented himself to be, had been sent broadcast by the police.

APPLIED FOR WORK.

A stranger applied for work yesterday a t the Salem branch of Armour & Co., the Chicago meat packers. John L. Carten, with whom the applicant talked, recognized the similarity between the stranger and the police description of "Ellis," the man sought.

Carten said: "Come around tomorrow morning and I may have something for you."

The stranger left and Carten telephoned the city marshal. The latter fe still hurling shells from her fifteen inchers across the Gallipoli Peninsula into the Turkish strongholds on the Asiatic shore.

Great Dreadnought Queen Elizabeth Hit by Shells From Shore Defences.

More Turkish forts on the Asiatic side have been silenced, according to a statement by the British Admiralty, published today, but the Turks are making a terrific resistance and the shells from their German-made guns have found more than one mark on the besieging craft.

The Turkish fleet, including the Goeben and the Breslau, former German cruisers, is reported cooped in the Straits, assembling at Nagara, while Turkish officials declare a quarter of a million of Turkey's best troops are waiting on the Gallipoli peninsula to resist the allies.

The Admiralty statement admits the Turks not only scored three minor hits on the Queen Elizabeth, but also that the majority of the ships inside the Straits, both French and British, were struck. None was sunk and there were no casualties.

The Turkish forts Rumili Medjidieh, Tabia and Hamidieh-I-Tedid, irriging the Asiatic shore line, which previously had subjected the bombardment, were silenced, as was the Mt. Dardanus battery farther south. Turkish casualties are not known.

Further progress by the British fleet before Smyrna, by which Turkish batteries were silenced, is announced in an Admiralty statement.

A Turkish official statement from Constantinople, issued prior to the Admiralty statement, insisted fighting in the Dardanelles was developing in favor of the Turks. It was stated that the hostile ships were forced to retreat, and that no battleships were destroyed.

Aeroplanes, rising from the decks of the besieging craft, are playing a signal part in the operations. One British machine fell into the sea and another was hit by the Turks twenty-eight times.

A report from Bucharest, Rumania, states that ex-Sultan Hamid had received his freedom and is gathering his friends and supporters around him.

GERMANS REPORT CAPTURE OF MANY MORE PRISONERS

BERLIN, March 9.—The capture of 5,806 French and Russian prisoners by the German forces is announced today in an official statement from main headquarters. With the exception of 250 privates and six officers, all the prisoners were taken in the fighting in Poland.

The battle in the Champagne district continues, the statement says. In the Vosges, bad weather is hindering operations. The statement in full follows:

"Western theatre of war: On Loretto Heights the Germans captured two more French trenches. Six French officers and 250 men were taken prisoners. The Germans also captured two machine guns and two small guns.

"In Champagne the engagement near Souain continues. The enemy at Les Mesnil the enemy, ready for an attack, was hindered by the German fire.

"In the Vosges the operations are hampered by fog and snowstorms.

"Fighting west of Muensier and north of Zombern continues.

"Eastern theatre of war: Russian attacks east of Augustowo failed. The enemy suffered heavy losses.

"Northeast of Lomza the Russians made an unsuccessful attack and we captured 500 prisoners.

"The engagement began northeast of Arrtolenka still continues.

"Northeast and west of Prasnysz the engagements continue favorable for the Germans. Three thousand Russians have been taken prisoners.

"Russian attacks north of Rawa and northwest of Novo Maisto were without success, and 1,750 Russians were taken prisoners."

RUSSIANS ENGAGE GERMANS IN GREAT BATTLE ON PILICA

PETROGRAD, March 9.—Two great German and Russian armies are locked in the grip of battle in the Pilica river region south of the Vistula river in Poland, where the forces of Grand Duke Nicholas are striving to dislodge the soldiers of Field Marshal von Hindenburg from their positions.

A German offensive in that region having failed, the Germans retired to a strong position along a series of heights and the Russians are now shelling these positions with the utmost vigor, preparatory to an attempt to force them with the bayonet. A big battle is developing there along seven-mile front.

But in the meantime heavy fighting is in progress south of the East Prussian border near Lomza, Plock and Przasnysz. The Russians are maintaining a strong offensive all along this line from Augustowo down along the Bobr and Narew rivers, to a point south of Plock. It was with the intention of lessening Russian pressure in this region that the Germans attacked so vigorously south of the Vistula.

With the German efforts in the region of the Pilica a failure the situation between Plock and Augustowo is now serious for the invaders. It is believed that the Russians will be able to start another drive into East Prussia within the next ten days.

ORDER WARSHIPS TO VERA CRUZ

The battleship Delaware now is at Vera Cruz. She was ordered north for maneuvers, but now will be kept in Mexican waters indefinitely.

The other vessels are the cruisers Des Moines, already at Vera Cruz, and the Tacoma, which will arrive on Thursday; the gunboat Sacramento, coming from Tampico and the Petrel, which will arrive Thursday from Mobile.

The warships ordered out today are due to arrive off Vera Cruz Thursday night. No intimation was given at the department of any possibility of landing a force of marines and bluejackets to protect the city, but the fleet could easily spare a considerable force of men for any emergency duty. It also could take on board a large part of the foreign population of Vera Cruz in case of panic.

MUST PROTECT FOREIGNERS.

President Wilson today ridiculed reports that the United States was on the brink of intervention in Mexico. He stated that conditions were not so bad as they had been painted, and the pressure for intervention came from those who were willing to misrepresent the facts to procure it.

The President stated to his callers that the necessity of protecting foreigners had been pointed out to General Carranza by the United States. He insisted, however, that no ultimatum had been sent to Carranza, that reports of the change of policy on the part of the United States or of any new intentions were untrue, and that the ships had not been ordered to Vera Cruz with any hostile intent.

Battleships had been ordered to stop at Vera Cruz on their way to the United States from Guatanamo, but there was no sinister significance in that according to the President.

"Foreign governments have indicated their anxiety regarding Mexico to the United States, but have not asked for any action by this government. No suggestion regarding a pan-American intervention expedition has reached the President in an official manner.

"There have been no outrages in Mexico City, but there has been fear of pillage and chaos if General Obregon evacuated the city, the President said.

DISTRESS AND FAMINE.

The President declined to make any further comment on this phase, but intimated that information had reached him that there was considerable distress and famine in Northern Mexico.

Reports that Felix Diaz would head a new expedition into Mexico operating from San Antonio also were

French Airmen in Flights Covering 1,116,000 Miles

PARIS, March 9.—An official statement published here today says French airmen have flown 1,116,000 miles since war began, adding:

This would amount to about forty times around the globe.

"Approximately 10,000 aerial reconnaissances have been made, amounting to 18,000 hours in the air. Unfortunately, these results were not obtained without serious losses, which equal, and sometimes even surpass, other methods of warfare."

HELD AS MAN WHO LURED GIRL AWAY

detailed Inspector John Barrett to be at the Armour place this morning.

The moment the man came in Inspector Barrett decided he was the suspect. The applicant, who gave the name of Thomas F. Ryan, was arrested on the Boston charge, taken to the Salem police station and held for the Boston officers. Boston police headquarters lost no time in sending Inspector Smith after the prisoner, who was brought to Pemberton square by early afternoon.

Susan Tallant was lured away last Saturday afternoon by "Ellis," who took the girl and her little brother to the South Station under excuse that they were to meet the children's father, who was expected home from the tuberculosis camp at Rutland. At the South Station the man said that Mr. Tallant was coming to the North Station. He sent the brother home.

GIRL TELLS STORY.

Susan was not heard from until yesterday morning when she came home with a shocking story of being kept in a room on Dwight street. Yesterday morning "Ellis" left her, telling her to meet him later at Boylston and Tremont streets. As soon as he was out the girl dressed and hurried home.

Susan was taken to police headquarters where she identified a picture in the rogue's gallery as that of "Ellis." The original of the picture has served time on Deer Island for theft.

German Envoy to Holland Recalled

LONDON, March 8.—London newspapers today displayed prominently a dispatch from Amsterdam, saying that Baron von Mueller, German Minister to Holland, has been recalled to Berlin, "owing to the failure of his mission." Commenting editorially, they assert that Holland and Germany will soon break off all diplomatic relations.

RESUME TRIAL OF MRS. ANGLE

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., March 9.—The trial of Mrs. Helen M. Angle, accused of manslaughter as the result of the death of Waldo S. Ballou in Stamford last June, was resumed today in the Superior Court here before Judge Williams.

Mrs. Angle appeared in court early and occupied her time until Judge Williams ascended the bench reading a newspaper printed in the Italian language.

This is the only newspaper I have found which does not carry an account of the terrible affair," she told several friends who inquired the reason for the foreign newspaper.

As usual, she was accompanied by her father, Leonard Blondell, and several women friends, who accompany her each day from her home in Stamford to the courthouse, a journey of thirty-two miles.

Detective Sergeant Thomas Foley of the Stamford police department was the first witness. He visited Mrs. Angle's apartment the day following Ballou's death.

Photographs of the stairway down which the State contends the politician was hurled to his death and of Mrs. Angle's apartment were identified by the detective. As each picture was submitted Mrs. Angle's attorneys entered a formal objection, which were overruled.

State's Attorney Cummings and Lawyer Downs had several words encounters during these periods, Cummings declaring that he would not endure the insinuations of Downs that the photographs were incorrect and that the State was endeavoring to convict Mrs. Angle by manufactured evidence.

BROOKLINE JINKS IN WHEELER SUIT

NEW YORK, March 9.—Even more startling sensations than those which stirred the crowded courtroom on the first day were hinted at when the trial of Albert Gallatin Wheeler, Jr.'s, suit for absolute divorce was resumed today. Wheeler names Walter Winthrop Greene, a Harvard man. Mrs. Claudia Carlstedt Wheeler, once known on the stage as "the girl in the pink tights," says it is all a plot by her husband and his father.

Aquatic sports carried on right in one of Brookline's most select hostelries figured largely in the testimony. After Joseph H. Choate, Jr., Wheeler's lawyer, had broken the ice with the jury, Stephen Rafferty, a bellboy at the hotel in question, Brandon Hall, testified that the main part of his job consisted in carrying up breakfast trays to those who prefer to take their first meal of the day in bed. As such, he vouchsafed he had occasion to visit Room 304 in the hotel that housed "Mr. and Mrs. Green."

His rap at the door being unheeded, he let himself into the apartment. No sooner had he crossed the threshhold than he heard sounds of merriment from the direction of the bathroom. His ear told him that water was flowing into the tub, and at the same time there was a noise of splashing and resounding whacks that would seem to indicate some one was being slapped.

Also he heard a man's voice saying, "Claudie," and a woman's saying, "Wallie, dear!" Coughing to attract attention, he averred that "Green" emerged from the bathroom clad only in the most Summery attire. He ordered the witness to deposit his tray and adjourn.

"BEST OF FRIENDS."

On other occasions, declared the bell boy, he saw Mr. and Mrs. Green together and under circumstances that would seem to indicate they were the best of friends. He identified Mrs. Wheeler as the woman he had known as "Mrs. Green." William C. Herrick, the hotel clerk, did likewise.

Judson Rogers, night clerk at the San Remo apartment hotel in New York, recollected that last Summer a Mr. and Mrs. Green took an apartment. Mrs. Wheeler was asked to stand.

"It is not Mrs. Green," said the clerk. "She was shorter, fairer, younger and not so stout."

Mr. Choate remarked that Mrs. Wheeler was wearing very high heels and that perhaps that accounted for "the seeming largeness of the defendant." Mr. Choate asked Mrs. Wheeler if she would show her shoes to the jury.

"Certainly," she replied.

There was a great craning of necks and the jurors, all of whom married men, assumed judicial expressions. Mrs. Wheeler tried to show her shoes from where she sat, but men were all around her at the big counsel table. So she walked straight to the jury box. Then the jurors saw it plainly.

The foot was a number three, encased in a patent leather boot laced to the curve of the calf, and above it was a purple silk stocking. The jurors displayed intense interest. Those in the top row bending far forward in order to examine the evidence. There was also a rustle throughout the court. The heel of the shoe was about three inches high.

Rogers was certain Mrs. Wheeler was not "Mrs. Green."

Mothers Take This Home-Made Cough Syrup

The good, tender, thoughtful mother can make a full pint of the quickest acting, permanent result giving cough syrup which can be used by the whole family for coughs and colds, thus preventing pneumonia, sore throat, diphtheria and other fatal maladies. Just obtain a concentrated fluid known as Essence Mentho-Laxene—2½ oz. bottle and pour it into a pint jar or bottle. Then take a pint of granulated sugar and pour over it a half pint of boiling water, stir, cool and fill up the bottle with the syrup. Full directions for making and using are contained on each package. All good druggists sell it, or it can readily be obtained of their wholesaler. Thousands of families are using this because of its cheapness and thoroughness.—Advertisement.

2-ALARM FIRE IN MARLBORO

MARLBORO, March 9. — Warning given by Mrs. R. M. Pratt and Miss Esther M. Hamblett, operators in the local telephone exchange, enabled several occupants of the Masonic block on Main and Newton streets to leave the building in safety, when the building was damaged by a two-alarm fire, which caused a heavy loss, early today.

The blaze started in the plant of the Flake Printing Company, on the second floor. It was discovered by Mrs. Ralph Brigham, who lives across the street.

The firms who suffered loss by fire or water are: R. L. Allison, druggist; J. O. Bailey, jeweler; J. F. Cosgrove, shoes; W. A. Allen, dry goods; Mrs. E. Fountaine, Fay, millinery; Flake Printing Company and the Federal Supply Company.

Monsignor Splaine Permanent Rector of Roxbury Parish

The Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. J. Splaine, D. D., rector of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, who has been appointed by Cardinal O'Connell to be permanent rector of St. Joseph's Church, Roxbury, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Rev. Denis J. Wheley, will take charge of St. Joseph's shortly.

He was ordained to the priesthood in 1892. In Rome, and came back to Boston. He was appointed to the monsignorial four or five years ago, and has accompanied Cardinal O'Connell on his visits to the Vatican.

Reports Cook Girl Plotted Own Death

NEW HAVEN, March 9.—Lillian May Cook of Brooklyn, whose body was found on top of West Rock, died from a self-inflicted pistol wound, completing a carefully laid plot to end her life, and she alone was responsible for her suicide, according to the official report filed by Coroner Gill Mix today. The report contains no allusion to the physical or internal condition of the body.

BACK BAY FIRE ROUTS WHITINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Whiting, of No. 17 Commonwealth avenue, were driven from their home early today when a fire was discovered in the building. Mr. Whiting was awaken by the smoke. His wife went to the telephone and tried to call the Boylston Street Fire Station. Unable to get a connection Mr. Whiting ran to the fire alarm box at the corner of Exeter and Commonwealth avenue, in his night robes and pulled in an alarm.

On returning home he partly dressed and then Mrs. Whiting got out of the house through smoke filled halls. For a time it was thought that Henry Beckwith, a servant, who had a room in the basement, had been burned to death as he could not be found. After the blaze had been extinguished it was found that his bed had not been slept in.

The fire gained great headway and nearly every room in the building was wrecked. The damage will be heavy. The cause is unknown. Jr. Whiting is a consulting engineer.

Countess Szechenyi, Nursing at Front, Is Ill with Smallpox

LONDON, March 9.—It has just become known in Budapest, according to dispatches, that Countess Laslo Szechenyi, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, daughter of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt of New York, contracted smallpox and has been dangerously ill for the past fortnight.

The Countess was nursing in a Budapest military hospital when she fell ill. She had been nursing since the beginning of the war, and never ceased her voluntary duties when cases of infectious diseases began to be of almost daily occurrence in military hospitals.

MRS. BRIGGS IS AGAIN ON STAND

Mrs. Mary Briggs, wife of Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, and daughter of the late Louis Cabot, resumed the stand today in the Cabot will contest. Referring to testimony given in the case by her husband to the effect that she had once sewed pillows, Mrs. Briggs declared that instead of pillows she was "sewing Lloyd's trousers."

Mrs. Briggs smiled as she said this.

She said she did not do any sewing before her marriage. She is the contestant of her father's will.

Mrs. Briggs was questioned by her counsel, Sherman L. Whipple. Her sister, Mrs. John W. Bartol, was in the courtroom, seeing Mrs. Briggs's cabin, a cabin-in-law, was a spectator. The courtroom was crowded. In the corridor the throng was handled by three court officers.

TELLS ABOUT SEWING.

Q—When you went to your father's home with Dr. Briggs, I believe that was in Dublin, N. H., where did you go first? A—We went to a hotel.

Q—Did you have a meal at the home? A—I had one meal.

Q—When was your son born? A—He was born in Paris—in 1907.

Q—In 1909, that Summer, after Lloyd was born, where did you spend that Summer? A—We were in town till July 7, and then went to Dublin.

Q—Where did you spend the Winter of 1910? A—At No. 64 Beacon street. We were there also in 1908 and 1909.

Q—Where did you spend the Summer of 1910? A—In 1910 I was at Manchester.

Q—Some mention was made of your sewing sheets or pillows; what was it you were doing? A—(She hesitates, then smiles)—I was sewing Lloyd's trousers.

A—Then you were not sewing sheets or pillows? A—No, I was not sewing either sheets or pillow cases.

Q—Before your marriage had you done sewing? A—No.

Q—Did you learn of your mother's illness before she died? A—I learned of it the day before.

Q—How did you hear of her illness? A—By a telegram.

Q—Who sent it? A—My sister.

Q—Mrs. Bartol? A—Yes.

LEARNS OF MOTHER'S ILLNESS.

Q—How did you receive this telegram? A—Through my sister.

Q—In what way? A—She read it to me.

Q—Did you make arrangements to go there—to Aiken? A—Yes, I did.

Q—Did your sister make arrangements to go? A—Yes.

Q—What did she say when you talked to her about it? A—She said she and Dr. Bartol were going down.

Q—Did you have any further talk with her? A—No, I did.

Q—Will you tell us what it was? A—I asked her if she was going. She said she was. I asked her if she had saved a section in the train for me. She said she had not, and then asked me if I wanted to go. I said, "Yes, of course, I want to go."

Q—What train did you go on? A—I went on the 1 a. m. train.

Q—What train did your sister go on? A—She went on the 12 o'clock midnight train.

Q—Were you alone when you went to New York? A—I went alone.

Q—And you went on the same train with your sister from New York? A—Yes, I went in the same car.

Q—At any time afterward did you have talks about not receiving a notice of your mother's death? A—No.

Q—Did you speak to your father about it? A—I said that I wished that the telegram had come sooner.

Q—Did you see your father in Aiken? A—Yes.

Q—Did you see him after that? A—I saw on the train coming back.

Q—What was the demeanor? A—I cannot describe it.

Q—Was he calm? A—Yes.

Q—Could you recall what he talked about? A—Yes.

Q—What was it? A—He asked me if he'd call in the doctor.

Q—Did he say anything else? A—Yes.

Q—What was it? A—He asked me to come and stay with him and to bring Lloyd along with me.

Q—And that was to the Brookline house, wasn't it? A—Yes.

Q—And did you? A—I did.

Q—How long did you stay there with him at the Brookline house? A—I staid with him six weeks.

Q—While you were there at the Brookline house did your father say anything to you? A—He did.

DIDN'T WANT DOCTOR.

Q—What was it? A—One day father was playing golf. I had a bed put into the room where I was. That made two beds. Father came home to my room and asked me what I was doing. I said I was putting a bed in the room for Dr. Briggs. He said: "I don't want anyone but you and Lottie."

Q—Did Dr. Briggs come? A—Dr. Briggs did not come.

Q—Was anything said about a feeling that he was going to die? A—Yes, often. He said he would not live long.

Q—Did you ever hear him speak of suicide? A—No.

Q—In any of your father's explanations or during his talk did he repeat himself? A—Yes.

Q—Do you remember anything that he said? A—He would repeat to himself, "What shall I do? What shall I do?" He would say it several times over.

SERVANTS DIDN'T SPEAK.

Q—How did the servants act while Le came into their presence? A—They would look down and never look up at him. They never spoke to him.

Q—Do you remember when Mr. Bigelow was in your father's company they were talking over some scientific terms and your father was criticised for using a certain term? Do you remember how he acted? A—He laughed right out.

Mrs. Briggs testified that the Bartols had a cottage at Northeast Harbor near her, that she corresponded with her father about the Dublin house and that that Fall went to the Brookline house for two weeks. She said the reason she went to the Brookline house was because of the illness of her son, Lloyd.

Mrs. Briggs testified that she asked for the privilege of going to the Brookline house with her son in order to be near a doctor to care for him. She declared that when she was at Northeast Harbor that Summer the Bartol children were at her father's house.

The Big Step Forward!

It's a mistake to suppose that your teeth will not decay merely because they look clean, white and polished.

"I'm thankful for Pebeco. It rid my mouth of obnoxious mouth-odors and greatly strengthened my gums. Pebeco is a delight every morning and every night."

To leave "Acid-Mouth" out of the reckoning is to ignore the greatest cause of all tooth decay. To forget about "Acid-Mouth" is to shut your eyes to the finding of scientists that "Acid-Mouth" is the worst enemy of your teeth. "Acid-Mouth" causes 95% of tooth decay and nine out of every ten people have "Acid-Mouth."

Pebeco Tooth Paste

helps stop "Acid-Mouth." In checking the day and night assaults of "Acid-Mouth" on tooth enamel Pebeco takes the biggest step forward in the scientific care of the teeth.

What Cadum Is Made of

Cadum, the well-known remedy for Eczema and other skin troubles, is one of the very few preparations sold on drug stores that is not a secret. A list of its ingredients is printed upon every box. One ingredient is oil of Cade, which is recognized by doctors as being one of the best things known for Eczema. Another ingredient is zinc oxide, which drives out the water that forms upon sore places on the skin. Two other ingredients are glycerine and white wax, which make a covering to protect these sore parts from the air and water. A real box of Cadum can be secured in anything like a city, but it is cheaper to buy the 50c size, as this contains nearly four times as much as the 25c size.

BURGLAR SHOT BY POLICEMAN WAS A ROXBURY YOUTH

Business Good, Says Premier Motor Head

Frank E. Smith, the new head of the Premier Motor Manufacturing Company, Indianapolis, and Sales Manager Walter M. Bielfing of this company, arrived in Boston last evening for the automobile show. Both expressed themselves as well pleased with the appearance of the Boston show.

Mr. Smith said business was above normal. "Beginning with the Chicago automobile show," he added, "the factories began to feel the influence of the purchasing public. There is no doubt but what the Boston show will cause the New England dealers to turn in a large volume of orders."

Urge Harvard Men Join Military Camps

Advice to prepare for war in time of peace by joining the Summer military training camps of the government is given by President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard to college students in the Harvard Illustrated Magazine. President Lowell asserts that if it is the duty of a man to fight for his country in case it is attacked, it is fully as much his duty to prepare himself to do so in time of peace.

Mayor's Parkway Bill Is Rejected

Mayor Curley's bill for a $500,000 appropriation to develop the Old Colony Parkway was turned down today by a 5 to 2 adverse report by the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs. The bill was argued one day, and although no opposition was presented, the committee voted against it today.

Premier Philosophy.

"There is nothing the matter with business," declares Frank E. Smith of the Premier, "the trouble is the bubbles state of mind." The auto shows are proving the truth of this.

Officer Fired to Save Life After Being Hit with a Blackjack

The burglar shot by Policeman Andrew J. Hurley in an apartment at No. 16 Harvard terrace, Allston, before daybreak today admits that he is James Glennon of No. 86 Marcella street, Roxbury.

Mrs. Briggs testified that she asked for the privilege of going to the Brookline house with her son in order to be near a doctor to care for him. She declared that when she was at Northeast Harbor that Summer the Bartol children were at her father's house.

When his clothing was searched at St. Elizabeth's Hospital a letter from an inmate of the tuberculosis camp in Rutland was found. The address revealed the home of the burglar and when Inspector Kilday went there he found photographs which enabled him to make the identification.

When Inspector Kilday returned to the hospital he told Glennon what he had learned.

"Yes," said the wounded burglar, "that's my name. Please notify my mother and sister."

HAS PRISON RECORD.

Although only twenty-two years old, Glennon has a prison record. He was sentenced to Concord Reformatory for breaking and entering when seventeen. In 1911 he was sentenced to six months in jail in New Haven for a like crime. In February, 1912, he was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction in Boston for breaking and entering.

At the hospital it is said that Glennon has an even chance of living.

Patrolman Hurley surprised two men in the Allston department. He was blackjacked by the burglars and is in a serious condition. He had to shoot Glennon to save his own life. The other burglar escaped after a desperate fight. Now that Glennon's identity has been established the police expect to capture the other burglar.

Two were three other breaks by burglars in Boston last night or early today.

Two men, who were surprised in the basement of Bigelow & Dowse Company's hardware store, were caught after a chase in Franklin street; two others held up the proprietor of a liquor store in Bedford street at the point of a gun, forcing him to open his safe, and then to lock himself into his own cellar.

Burglary in School street was discovered early today. The burglars entered at No. 2, raiding every office and store in the building, even cutting out part of a flight of marble stairs to get into one of the stores.

Mrs. J. W. Smith of No. 17 Harvard terrace saw lights in the apartment of J. Warren Buckman, in No. 16, first floor. She had noticed two men acting suspiciously. Warned by a recent burglary, at No. 12 Harvard terrace, Mrs. Smith asked a neighbor, Edward King, of No. 17, to get a policeman.

King met Hurley in Cambridge street, and told him. Hurley ran down the street, to the back entrance of the house. There he found a door forced. Still on the run, he entered the house. Immediately a heavy blackjack nearly felled the policeman. He stumbled, reaching out his hands to save himself.

As he did so, a man brushed past him, jumping the railing into the yard. On another brushed into Hurley's arms. Hurley gripped the gun. Meanwhile, a rain of blows descended on the policeman's head.

Locked together the officer and burglar fought all over the apartment. In the reception hall at the front of the house, Hurley drew his revolver and fired. Then he collapsed. The burglar ran to the rear entrance. Hurley crawled around the apartment, leaving a trail of blood till he found a telephone. Then he notified his superior officer at Station No. 14.

PRISONER KEEPS SILENT.

A squad of officers were rushed to the house. They first stumbled over the wounded burglar in the yard. Others went into the house and found Hurley in the bath room, trying to get water to wash the blood out of his eyes.

Kin of Colonel Prescott Weds Bride Gotham Society Girl

Bostonian Whose Great Granduncle Commanded at Bunker Hill Is Married Today in New York.

Miss Marjory Ficken, who became the bride of William Brown Prescott today.

NEW YORK, March 8.—In the chantry of Grace Church the wedding of Miss Marjory Ficken and William Brown Prescott took place today.

Miss Ficken is the daughter of H. Edward Ficken. Mr. Prescott is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lunzee Prescott of Boston. He is a grandnephew of Prescott, the historian, and his great-granduncle, Colonel Prescott, was in command of the American forces at Bunker Hill.

The engagement was announced last Fall. Since then Miss Ficken has been guest of honor at many functions.

Only relatives and a few friends of the couple were invited to the wedding.

KENNARD, ONCE JILTED, TO WED

Boston and Brookline society circles, which rippled with the sensation of the jilting of Reginald Parry Kennard, brother of "Vic" Kennard, the famous Harvard football player, by a wealthy Chicago girl some time ago, read with interest today a New York news dispatch announcing young Reginald's engagement to Miss Claire Elizabeth Phillips, the daughter of Mrs. Marshall A. Phillips of Catonsville, Md.

Young Kennard is the son of Mrs. W. R. Kennard of Bay State road, Brookline. The new engagement recalls all the dramatic touches of the breaking troth he once plighted to Miss Winifred Manierre, daughter of W. R. Manierre, a rich real estate broker of Chicago.

Young Reginald's former engagement was announced at Christmas in 1911. In the summer of 1912 Miss Manierre announced the news which caused a stir in the exclusive social world in which the Kennards move.

SHE "WANTED A MAN."

Among other tihnks Miss Manierre said:

"The Kennard family is too puritanical.

"My fiance is tied to his mother's apron strings.

"I want a man, not a mother-in-law.

"We are not temperamentally mated, anyhow."

Her father said his daughter had visited the Kennards in Boston, and he referred to young Reginald as a "ten dollar a week dry goods clerk in New York city."

Friends of the Kennards replied by saying the devotion of the Kennard family was remarkable, that Miss Manierre had written Mrs. Kennard a letter telling how much the Chicago girl loved her and they added that it would be Mrs. Kennard's last wish to "tie her son to her apron strings."

Later "Vic" Kennard stated that Miss Manierre had tearfully implored him to bring about a reconciliation between her and young Reginald.

SAYS SHE OFFERED $200,000.

"She offered to settle $200,000 on Reginald if he would marry her at once," claimed the athlete. "Reginald refused because he didn't want to marry a father-in-law."

Reginald at the time did not appear broken-hearted, but drew forth a photograph of a handsome young woman—not Miss Manierre—and said: "The truth is I am in love with another girl."

Miss Manierre's former fiance explained that it was true he was working for a small salary, but he said it was far greater than $10 a week.

"I am a Yankee and believe in learning a business," he explained. "If they say I am tied to my mother let me say that she is a pretty good person to be tied to."

Miss Phillips is a granddaughter of Mrs. Henry J. Fraher of Baltimore and is a sister of Marshall A. Phillips, Jr., of New York city. The family is said to be wealthy and socially prominent.

LA TOURAINE BUT SLIGHTLY BURNED

HAVRE, France, May 8.—Only slight damage was done by the fire on the French liner La Touraine, whose wireless calls for help last Saturday aroused great anxiety in both Europe and the United States. Officers and passengers on La Touraine, which arrived last evening from New York, declared there was no panic on board.

"S. O. S. calls were sent out as a precautionary measure," said Captain Cousain. "The fire broke out in the forward hold ventilators and at 2 o'clock last Saturday had reached hold No. 2 and spar deck No. 2.

"In view of the danger a wireless call for help was sent out and soon the Hatteras arrived. The flames were discovered among the cargo and upon investigation it was found that two bales of clothing consigned to French and British soldiers, were smouldering. Soon after the Hatteras stood by two cruisers appeared."

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that the distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick 10 feet say they have had the hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible even at right inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you have an unpleasant head trouble with head noises or impaired hearing, cut out this formula and hand it to them and they will know what the cause of trouble is and what remedy from your druggist. The preparation can be procured at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (double strength). Shake well and take 1 teaspoonful three times a day after meals. Also get from your druggist 4 oz. of granulated sugar Cal-tabs (Improved). Take one tablet after each meal.

Parmint is used to loosen and expel the mucous by acting upon the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and Mint helps to quality the air passages so that drawn in may reach all parts of the system in the healthy way, and the results it gives are usually always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this home a trial and free themselves from this distressing disease.—Advertisement.

Loft Floors in Collapse Investigation by O'Hearn

South street building, three floors of which collapsed under burden of stock of leather goods.

Building Commissioner Patrick J. O'Hearn will start an investigation today of the collapse of the three upper floors of the five-story building at Nos 81 and 85 South street.

The crash caused all the water pipes in the building to burst and a flood of water poured through the debris. Plate-glass windows were broken and rolls of leather and a rubber fell to the street.

The building is occupied by several leather concerns. Considerable merchandise was stored on the floor which gave away. A passerby sounded the fire alarm.

The building is occupied by C. R. Brainard and Company, fifth floor; A. G. Arnold and Company, fourth floor; W. W. Seaton, third floor; Richard Cunningham and Company, second floor, and Julius Kallman, first floor.

DENY THAW'S SANITY IS INVOLVED IN PRESENT TRIAL

Thaw committed conspiracy in a lucid interval.

Justice Page denied the motion.

"PROVE HIM SANE."

John B. Stanchfield, chief of the Thaw counsel, made the statement at the opening of court that the last letter of the law should be appealed to in a fight to get the question of Thaw's sanity before the jury.

"I'll prove that Thaw is sane now," Mr. Stanchfield said, "and I'll prove that he was sane at the time he escaped from Matteawan."

It is probable that the history of the precious attempt to free Thaw by the offer of money to Dr. John W. Russell, former superintendent of Matteawan, will be made a part of the record. In this connection John N. Ashuit, now in Sing Sing Prison, may be called as a witness.

Mr. Kennedy said he would show that the go-between in the conspiracy was a man who is now dead.

Commenting on the jury, Thaw said:

"I am well satisfied with this jury. I think they are a fine lot of men."

For five hours while the jury was being selected Thaw sat without writing a single note.

SUGGESTION BY THAW.

Only once did he take any part in the selection of the jury. That was when he leaned over and made a smiling suggestion to one of his lawyers. Persons who have watched him during the half dozen legal battles in which he has figured since he slot Stanford White in 1906 hardly know which was the most remarkable—Thaw's self-effacement, or the fact that the twelve jurors were chosen in a single court day.

The questions that Mr. Stanchfield put to the talesmen indicated that he would ask for an acquittal—not on the ground of insanity as was once done in Thaw's behalf—but on the ground that the jurors had before them a sane man who had been illegally detained in an insane asylum and who had used the only means at his disposal to get away.

As Mr. Stanchfield explained, the contention that Thaw was illegally detained will be based on Justice Dowling's commitment in 1908 which decreed that Thaw should be sent to Matteawan and kept there until released by due process of law.

"The law," said Mr. Stanchfield, "provides that when a man is committed to an asylum he shall be kept there until sane."

FIGHT STANCHFIELD PLAN.

He said he would maintain that as the commitment was not in accord with the working of the law it was illegal. Mr. Stanchfield asserted that if Thaw was acquitted on the ground that he was a sane man illegally detained he would immediately issue a habeas corpus and demand the prisoner's release.

The effort to get the question of Thaw's sanity before this jury will be opposed by the attorneys representing the State. Mr. Kennedy declared that the commitment of Justice Dowling was in effect if not in words in accord with the law.

TO THE GRAY HAIRED

There is a safe and simple way to restore the original color. Results guaranteed.

Just get a bottle of Mary T. Goldman's Hair Color Restorer and let it prove how simply, safely and easily you can bring back the original color in a few days.

2141 Susquehanna Ave., Phila., Pa.

"My Dear Sir—For two years I was afflicted with hemorrhages of the lungs, and later I was taken with a severe attack of pneumonia. When I recovered sufficiently to walk about the house I was left with a frightful hacking cough, which no medicine I had taken could alleviate. It was at this time, March, 1902, that I started taking Eckman's Alterative. In a short time my cough was gone and I was pronounced well. I cannot speak too highly for the good it has done." (Abbreviated.)

If You Haven't Seen the Reos —You Haven't Seen the Show!

IF YOU ARE LIMITED as to the time you can spend at the automobile show you can well afford to devote every minute of it to the REO exhibit.

FOR WHEN YOU HAVE SEEN the two new Reo models you have seen the epitome of engineering experience and the maximum in automobile values. And that is why you go to an automobile show.

OF COURSE, IF YOU ARE just on a search for curiosities—for something radically new or sensationally different—then you won't find it in the Reo space.

HERE, YOU'LL FIND only the tried and proven—details of design and mechanical construction that are recognized as standard because through the years they have proven better.

SO IF YOU ARE A BUSY man, looking not for freaks but for something substantial and with a reputation back of it, you'll find the object of your quest here—and every moment will be profitably spent.

ON THE OTHER HAND, if you have plenty of time you can't spend it to better advantage than by a long, critical, minute study of the many points of superiority of the two Reo models—the Four and the Six.

YOU CAN'T REALIZE how much value—how much quality—how much capacity—how much power—how much service and how much luxury it is possible to obtain for $1050 until you have seen and ridden in the new Reo the Fifth—"The Incomparable Four."

NOR WILL YOU HAVE SEEN the ripest result of Reo engineering and of scientific, economical production, until you have seen with your own eyes the New Reo Six—"The Six of Sixty Superiorities"—which is now within your reach at $1385!

UNPRECEDENTED—unlooked-for, unhoped-for values—these two Reos. They are the sensation of the year. Values are not only unequaled—they cannot be equaled. None but Reo could do it.

REO PURCHASING POWER—Reo ready cash to buy and pay on the nail—cash when cash was at a premium a few months ago—that tells the story. You read it in the big Reo announcement. If you didn't, let us send it to you now. It's a wonderful story of commercial enterprise and of financial solidity.

REO READY CASH enabled Reo to buy as no other could—and that advantage we are passing on to you in these two great cars at their present prices.

REO FACTORY FACILITIES—the accuracy, the economy, the quality that have made the Reo plants known throughout the industry as the "Model Automobile Factories"—these account for the splendid values you receive at those prices.

SO SEE THE REOS. Study them closely. You'll find that nowhere else in all the world are such values to be found.

THESE CARS AT THESE PRICES and backed by this reputation—that is a combination you know cannot be duplicated. You know that now, before you start.

AND WHILE YOU ARE LOOKING at these Reos don't forget that thousands and tens of thousands of other astute buyers are looking also. Deciding—ordering for early delivery. And that as a result the factory is swamped with orders at this moment.

TIMES ARE THE BEST EVER if we are able to judge by Reo business. For, though from the day the first Reo was made it has never been possible to make enough cars to supply all who wanted Reos, this year the demand is even greater. Unprecedented even in Reo history.

SEEMS AS IF the more careful folk become in the selection of their motor cars—the more intent they are on obtaining the fullest value for every dollar—the more do they select Reos. Seems like.

AND AS THAT HAS BEEN the Reo aim from the first—the condition is most gratifying to us.

BUT THAT IS JUST WHY you can afford to lose no time in ordering once you have made your decision. To delay means certain disappointment. If you want your car when you want it—for early spring delivery—the order should be in now.

SO, FIRST THING YOU DO when you visit the show, make your way to the Reo exhibit. You can't miss it—it's where the crowd is. Not the crowd of curiosity seekers—the buying crowd.

Trucks—235-236 Show Spaces Cars—119-120

AND LAST THING YOU do before leaving the show, visit our booth again and place your order for your Reo.

OR, IF YOU CAN'T, because of the crowd, get the attention you desire and which we like to accord to all Reo customers—if you find our salesmen too busy at the show, it will be worth your while to come to our show-rooms where, free from the noise and the jostling of the crowds, you can study the many points of these Reos to your heart's content—and delight.

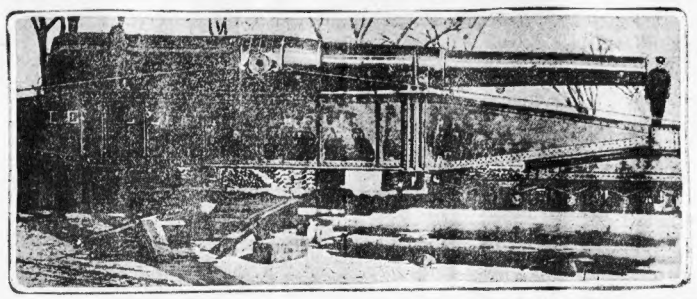
Giant 16-Inch Gun Now on Way to Guard Canal

Will Hurl Its Death Messengers for 22 Miles



This is a sixteen-inch coast defence gun. It is on its way to Panama on a specially constructed steel car. The gun weighs 62½ tons. It is 48 feet 3 inches long. It will shoot a projectile weighing 1,660 pounds twenty-two miles. Mounted on an island in Panama harbor this gun will be able to sink any hostile vessel within that distance.

Had it not been for public opinion aroused by Mr. Hearst, neither this gun nor any other would guard the Canal.

In 1900, Secretary of State Hay negotiated a treaty with Lord Pauncefote, the British Ambassador. It permitted the United States to dig the Panama Canal, but provided that "NO FORTIFICATION SHALL BE ERECTED COMMANDING THE CANAL OR THE WATERS ADJACENT THERETO." President McKinley approved this treaty. The Senate favored it. It was about to be ratified.

Mr. Hearst, who was in Egypt, heard that the treaty did not allow the United States to fortify the Canal. He could see no reason why the American people should spend $375,000,000 on a canal and be denied the right to defend it. He directed his newspapers by cable to defeat the treaty BY AROUSING PUBLIC SENTIMENT AGAINST IT.

James Creelman, the American's famous correspondent, was sent to Washington. Homer Davenport, the noted cartoonist, and a staff of writers accompanied him. A great campaign of publicity began. The public opinion of the entire country was aroused, and public opinion when aroused is omnipotent. The Senate yielded. The treaty was rejected. A new treaty was negotiated. Then Great Britain refused to ratify it. But a year later Great Britain accepted the new treaty. It gave the United States the right to forify the Canal. Hence the 16-inch gun shown above. It is now on the way to Panama. More of them will follow.

Fitz Cleared When Charges Fizzle Out

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 9.—The State's case against John and Edward Bradley, arrested on warrants which stated they had allowed former Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston to gamble at the Beach Club, has fizzled out.

One detective testified he had seen gambling there. Of the twenty-two prominent men for whom subpoenas were issued, only three were served. New subpoenas have been issued today for John Pullman of Boston and Steven Ulman of New York.

James T. Fitzgerald, brother of the ex-Mayor, has left for Boston. He said: "A great mistake was made in naming my brother in the warrant. He was not even a frequenter of the Beach Club, although I think he went there once to dinner.

MISS CURTIS TO WED AT FRONT

Miss Evelyn Curtis, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Allen Curtis of the Back Bay and Beverly, who recently sailed for Europe to become a Red Cross nurse, is planning to wed Harry J. Bring, her fiance, at the front, it became known today. The marriage of the couple had been planned to take place next month in St. Stephen's Church at Beverly, but the war, which called young Bring, who is a wealthy London electrical engineer, to the Bring line in the Artists' Rifle Scouts, caused a postponement.

Miss Curtis decided to become a nurse, and on February 27 she sailed on the Rotterdam. The date of the wedding has not been announced.

Service

The Boston Branch and the Sales and Service Headquarters in Boston.

Judge by What You Find In Boston What Studebaker Means by SERVICE

Studebaker Service means just this:

Keeping you happy and satisfied with your car.

On Commonwealth Avenue, The Donovan Motor Car Company, the Boston dealers, have one of the most completely equipped garages in New England. A block or two away, there is the big New England factory branch, which is as completely equipped to give service as some entire factories are. Studebaker cars could be assembled complete from the service supplies carried in Boston.

In New England there are over three hundred dealers.

In every city, town or village in all New England there is thoroughly competent Studebaker representation.

What is true in New England is true all over the United States.

You are never more than a town distant from Studebaker Service.

But Studebaker Service means something more than just great plants, factories and thousands of dealers.

Under the Studebaker Service Plan, you are invited to bring your car in at regular intervals and have it thoroughly gone over by a competent inspector.

When you return for your car in a few hours, an expert will tell you just where you have neglected to give it the proper care and attention—if you have.

The Studebaker car is the easiest and simplest thing in the world to take care of, and perfectly accessible in every part. But the new owner needs education, and this is what Studebaker Service plans.

Month after month you have the privilege of bringing your car back and the inspector gives you his time and service absolutely free. He is glad to tell you how to get the most satisfaction out of your car.

There is a complete Technical School in Detroit at the Studebaker factories where these service men are trained. Every month a service magazine is published and sent to the owners of Studebaker cars. A corps of service experts are continually traveling among dealers to assist them in giving service to Studebaker owners.

In short,

Studebaker

in offering you a Studebaker car is offering you something more than just a perfect machine.

It is offering you motoring service.

The machine is incident to the transaction.

But call at The Donovan Motor Car Company, or at the Studebaker Branch, or, if you are going to the Automobile Show, ask the attendant at the booth to tell you something about Studebaker Service.

Judy Asks Jimmie Compton-Blake to a Little Tea and He Accepts

By ANN LISLE

ALMOST all "miss daya wonders" are nine days' wonders and very little more. Inside of a month Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Burke had returned from a honeymoon at Old Point Comfort and the fatted calf of family reunion had been duly killed in their honor. Society had received them and had ceased gossiping about them. Jimmie Compton-Blake had been taken into the firm of Esterbrook, Curtis & Almy, and the world had stopped turning its head and whispering every time he passed.

How Jimmie Compton-Blake felt was a thing no man or woman might know. If Willa Torrance had hurt his pride only or his heart as well, no one could guess.

"Now, Judy, next Sunday would be a fine time to invite Margaret Compton-Blake to tea. Goodness knows, she's been lonely enough to you asking you to lunch and to parties after the theatre, and it's high time you reciprocated," remarked Bonnie as they sat at lunch one Wednesday in February.

"All right, Bonnie, but I think I'll feel a little pushing. It's one thing for her to ask me places when she wants me and quite another for me to ask her to some here, but never fear, I'll do it, only I don't think her brother will accept."

Two days later Margaret Compton-Blake took Judy aside during the quiet moment of their dancing lesson. "My brother says if you want him to come to tea you'll have to issue a personal invitation, and that his telephone number is Rector 676. Do ask him and make him come if you possibly can, Miss Mortimer. He's so quiet, it worries me, and I think knowing you and your jolly sister might help him forget—if he's still remembering. You'll phone him this afternoon, won't you? You know there's something so sane and sensible about you, Miss Mortimer, that I'm done me heaps of good to know you, and I'd like my brother to have a chance at any friendship that will help him fight out his problem. I'm sure he's hurt, and yet the only way to be of any use to him is just to make sure he doesn't get cynical and bitter about women, as most men do when they get jilted this way."

Judy felt decidedly between two cat-o-nine possible relationships with Jimmie Compton-Blake. On the one hand there was sister Margaret, who cold bloodedly proposed that Judy should give her simple friendship to help the brother's pride, and

Great Variety of Designs Feature of Exhibit by Many Firms.

By J. C. KERRISON.

The design and construction of motor cars seems to offer a greater attraction to the general public these days than ever before. This fact was commented upon to a great degree by the men at the show today. They argued it indicated the education of the public along mechanical lines so far as the motor vehicle is concerned.

It is a noticeable fact that where as a few years ago the stripped chassis was somewhat of a novelty and the people gathered around merely out of curiosity, the chassis today is looked upon as an exposition of mechanical design and construction.

The mechanical knowledge displayed by four-fifths of the visitors is remarkable. They can and do talk intelligently about every conceivable feature possessed by motor cars and many of them propound theoretical questions that give even the most experienced of the salesmen deep thought.

The show is replete with features worthy of close attention and consideration and to appreciate them will require more than one visit.

The crowds in the early morning hours seem to be the best posted. Perhaps it is because they come with one purpose in mind—that of acquiring complete knowledge before determining the important question—"which car to buy."

The battle of cylinders is being waged with vigor. Each particular class has its adherents, each particular class has its opponents, but whatever may be said in favor of one or against the other, the fact remains that all sizes of motors have in the past and will in the future render good accounts. It is simply a matter of personal taste or preference.

The crowd at the show today was fully in keeping with the expectations of the management and the exhibitors, while the crowd of last evening was a record-breaker in point of attendance and sales.

That the Boston show continues to attract the big men of the industry was shown by the arrival of the representatives of the leading manufacturers of the country. Salesmanager Ruesbaw of the Reo, arrived with J. C. Brandimore, W. W. West and W. B. Hunt of his factory force. Hen Twyman came to assist "Vic" Charles at the Inter-State exhibit. Salesmanager Churchill and Charles W. Mears of the Winton were on hand.

Jim Clarke of the National, E. S. Jordan and G. H. Bryant of the Jeffery, Salesmanager Charles Emise and Treasurer Regar of the Chandler, Leo Counselman and Frank Willis of the Chalmers, President Harry W. Ford and Salesmanager Moore of the Saxon, General Manager Harris, Lee Anderson, O. S. Hutchinson and J. G. Roe of the Hupmobile, President Windsor White, J. A. Harris, Jr., and W. H. Newton of the White Company, Jake Newmark of the Apperson, Salesmanager James Gilson of the Lewis, Frank P. Smith and Walter M. Belling of the Premier and E. R. Hollander of the Flat all came to Boston to put their seal of approval on the thirteenth annual Boston Motor Show.

"The automobile industry hasn't been sick," says Sales Manager Fred Warner of the Oakland. "The country hasn't had any malignant disease. It's all right. The mental condition is fast becoming healthy again—and better times, better conditions are here."

Jeffery Cars Have Complete Display

Arriving from New York Monday, E. S. Jordan, with his usual energetic sales methods, was one of the busiest men on the floor of Mechanics Hall yesterday, enthusing over the merits of Jeffery cars and Jeffery trucks, both of which are represented in very complete displays at the Auto Show.

Mr. Jordan said: "C. P. Rockwell, our New England distributor, is to be congratulated on the way he has conducted Jeffery business in this Eastern territory. Nowhere in the country is there a more energetic corps of salesmen. The fair play in all business dealings displayed by the Jeffery sales organization built up by Rockwell has impressed itself indelibly upon the minds of New England motor enthusiasts."

Notes of the Show

Charles Clifton, chairman of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and president of the George N. Pierce Company, was an early arrival at the show, and after making a thorough inspection of the exhibit unhesitatingly expressed the opinion that it was worth going miles to see.

The E. A. Gilmore Company, New England distributors for the Lewis "Six," announce that they are in a position to furnish the Vulcan Electric Gear Shaft on the Lewis "Six." The Vulcan Gear Shift is made by the Cutler Hammer Manufacturing Company, Milwaukee.

The Auto Round-Up at the Copley-Plaza Thursday night promises to be the greatest gathering of automobile men in New England.

• • •

W. C. Durand of the Chevrolet Motor Car Campany, and N. C. Bills, general manager, are here for the show. Mr. Bills established such a sales record as manager of the New England branch that it brought him the job of general manager.

Thomas Pollard of Brookline bought a Mitchell car through Fred Lucas, Mr. Pollard will motor to his new Mitchell to the Panama Exposition.

Edward Becker, the local sales manager of the Stutz Company, is pleased over the showing of his company's entry in the recent Vanderbilt Cup Race on the Pacific Coast, where the Stutz was the first American car to finish.

The little Metz, practically a Boston-made car, is creating considerable interest, and Manager Carl P. Spielgelberg reports a big list of sales.

Henry T. Reuter was the first buyer at the exhibit of the National car. He is the owner of the special parlor car which is attracting so much attention at this space. Sales Manager James M. Clark of the Indianapolis factory is the guest of A. T. Hart, the local agent.

Howard A. Matthews, president and general manager of the Jackson Company, is the guest of Alfred H. Sowers, the local manager. He is particularly interested in his new 44 model.

Velie dealers from all over New England are pouring into Boston this week for the Boston Show. Each one of them is bringing a large number of enthusiastic Velie owners and prospective buyers.

Jordan Tells of Studebaker Line

The great success of Studebaker Fours and Sixes at other automobile shows this season is being duplicated here. Not only Boston, but every State in New England is credited with many enthusiastic buyers of both models. G. N. Jordan, the Boston Studebaker branch manager, is certain that no small part of the sales is due to the recognition of the Studebaker as "the nation-wide car." In New England alone there are over 200 Studebaker dealers.

"With a Studebaker dealer in practically every city, town and village with many enthusiastic buyers of both models. G. N. Jordan, the Boston Studebaker branch manager, is certain that no small part of the sales is due to the recognition of the Studebaker as "the nation-wide car." In New England alone there are over 200 Studebaker dealers.

"With a Studebaker dealer in practically every city, town and village in the United States," said Mr. Jordan, "there exists a nation-wide acquaintance in favor of the Studebaker car. Wherever a motorist goes in New England he is never far from a Studebaker dealer well acquainted with Studebaker construction. He probably may never need him in the years his Studebaker is in service, but he values to the full the comfortable feeling that comes from knowing he is never far from intelligent assistance should he require it."

Maxwell Car Shows Well in Odd Test

Just to show the people of Boston how much it costs to run a motor car, the J. W. Bowman Company has given one of its 1915 Maxwells a special assignment. For one week it is to travel the city streets and country roads exactly as though it were in the service of a private owner. On every foot of the way it will be accompanied by a prospective purchaser of a motor car, and the results of its day's work will be announced.

Yesterday the car was picked at random from among the stock in the salesrooms. It started out in the morning and traveled 199 miles.

The gentleman who enjoyed this 199-mile ride was P. A. Miller of Southbridge, who specifies that the fuel consumption in that distance was eight gallons. The oil reservoir needed no replenishing, the tires had not been touched, four stops were made and the motor was stopped three times.

On one occasion the electric starter worked perfectly and at no time was there any mechanical difficulty. The car, carrying a full load, covered twenty-five miles to the gallon of gasoline.

General Vehicle Trucks a Feature

One of the most interesting exhibits in the truck department of the show is that of the General Vehicle Company, exhibiting both electric and gasoline trucks.

Duplicates of trucks seen on Boston streets are here shown. They have proven to the masters of transportation their efficiency and economy of operation.

Hay Baker, district manager of the electric division of this company, is a veritable mine of information, as well he might be, having studied transportation problems since the first introduction of motor vehicles. George H. Hudson, district manager of the gasoline division, is another thoroughly well posted transportation expert.

The gasoline truck is known as the G-V Mercedes and is a duplicate of the German Mercedes truck, a light weight truck, giving minimum expense for gasoline, oil and tires.

New Abbott First Time Shown Here

The arrival of the eight-cylinder Abbott-Detroit model created a stir among visitors to the Motor Show yesterday. This car is the latest product of the Abbott factory and has never been shown in Boston before.

The new eight-cylinder Abbott is beautiful in appearance, the body construction being one of the highest grade. The motor is of the V-type and constructed along the most advanced lines.

P. A. Dutton, local distributor of this car, is also showing attractive cars of the four and six-cylinder type.

Looks for Big Sale of Detroiter Car

"Just as I predicted at the New York Show, we will have three customers for every 'Eight' that we can deliver," says B. S. Crockett of the Detroiter Car. "Where we had figured on only a limited demand among our dealers up North for these cars, we find now that they are going to sell proportionately as many 'Eights' in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont as we are down here in Massachusetts and Rhode Island. They have gotten the fever and gotten it bad down in Maine, and one dealer alone offered to take about as many as we had figured on allotting for the entire State."

Electric Display at Gray & Davis Factory

Motorists and others who have occasion to travel along Commonwealth avenue are commenting upon the electric display which decorates the Gray & Davis factory on the Charles River parkway. The plant is attractively dressed with a myriad of electric lights in honor of the automobile show. In the centre of the building is a large "G. & D." the company's monogram, outlined with changing colors. This display is really worth seeing and will continue during this week.

Predicts Big Sale of Medium-Priced Cars

Among the new arrivals at the show today was H. W. Twyman, general manager of the Inter-State Motor Company. He says conditions look better throughout the country than he had expected. He feels confident that the medium priced car they are building will prove a big seller this year, all of their distributors are sending in very satisfactory reports. He said that the Inter-State factory is working near capacity to meet a production that is truly remarkable under present conditions.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; but when the skin pores are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and, drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.—Advertisement.

BAD COLD? TAKE CASCARETS FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold, always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system, is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

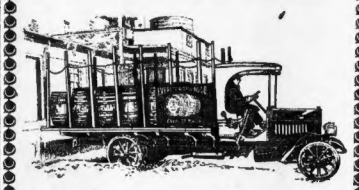
Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.—Advertisement.

Heavy Duty 5 to 6 Ton G.V. Mercedes Trucks

If you like a motor truck that is light and powerful, take a look at the G. V. Mercedes Chassis at the Show. It carries up to 6 tons, but weighs only 6380 pounds.

A light weight truck means minimum expense for gasoline, oil and tires. The G. V. Mercedes gives you maximum "pay" load.



The First Mercedes in New England (1912)

Remember the load is carried on a solid forged axle. The unique internal gear drive is wonderfully efficient. With trucks of this size it is superior to the chain, the worm or the bevel drive. The Mercedes drive has been used without essential alteration for the past 15 years.

If your work calls for speed on a long haul start right by buying a real cross country truck. Run in and see the G. V. Mercedes now, to-day. Spaces 218 and 219.

MERCHANTS ARE FOR 'BUY IT NOW'

The "Buy-It Now" plan is not a sport, but an insperation in business. That is what it is proving itself to be among those merchants who have taken it up in a way similar to themselves of Chicago. Some merchants who did not at first, take to it readily now acknowledge it is helpful to business.

Manager Mark Rheinhart of Peoples, School street, who has been watching the effects, comments on this in the Boston AMERICAN.

"The circulation of money and the circulation of merchandise are two of the greatest things in the business life.

"Whatever tends to make these two persons has the endorsement of every business man more or less. Now anything that you make this evident in some way and encourages, but I hardly believe that the popularity which the Boston AMERICAN has given to the slogan, 'Buy-It Now,' has done much to remind people of an opportunity to buy to advantage.

"It may be a small thing to start people buying, but it starts them just the same.

"I fully endorse the slogan 'Buy-It Now' as a part of the inspiration. I wish it business good and more to keep it active."

Committees Turn Down Three Bills

Proposed legislation to consolidate the Massachusetts Highway Commission and the Metropolitan Water and Sewer Board was reported "ought to withdraw" today by the Legislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

The Committee on Legal Affairs reported adversely on a bill providing that the Governor appoint a city in Boston be reapportioned to legislative districts on 1000 voters each.

An adverse report was filed by the committee on Federal Relations on the resolutions memorializing Congress for direct nomination and election of President of the United States.

Marshall Field, 3d, Ill on Honeymoon

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 8.—Marshall Field 3d is on board the Land's Ends, his houseboat, which he is spending his honeymoon. Mrs. Field says "My husband is very ill Saturday. We hope it is not typhoid, but it may be. The physicians say if it is it will be only a slight case."

Vegetable May Cause Boy's Death

Ambrose Benton, four, of No. 78 Knoll street, Roslindale, is dying at the City Hospital as a result of eating what he thought was a piece of cake. The boy found the vegetable in a vacant lot and soon after eating it was taken ill.

MISSIONARIES SAFE IN TURKEY

Dr. John T. Barton, D. D. secretary of the American Board of Missions, said today that all American missionaries in Turkey are safe up to the present so far as known. Three missionaries, driven out of Guadalajara, Mexico, by Carranza, have just been located at Manzanillo, which they reached by train after an exciting time. They will leave that place as soon as they can for California. They are Rev. Louis B. Gritte, Rev. John Howland, D. D., and Mrs. Sara B. Howland, all well known here.

They had charge of a school in Guadalajara and had the protection of Villa. But, as soon as Carranza came along, he ordered the school buildings closed and the missionaries out of the city in twenty-four hours. That is the last message we have heard from Dr. Howland, that he and his wife were safe on the coast with the girls. They will leave for California.

"We intend to give up our work in Guadalajara, hand it over to the Methodists and confine our work exclusively to the north of Mexico. There will be no peace in Mexico until the United States, combining with the A. B. C. republics of South America, demand that Mexico preserves peace or put in a temporary President. That is the only way, it seems to me, to restore any sort of order."

Comfort of "Fans" Provided for in Elaborate Plans; to Be Opened in August.

From a small start was put on exhibition today Boston baseball "fans" got their best idea of what the new Braves' ball park will look like.

The new park, which will be located on the former Allston Golf Club field on Commonwealth avenue, will be the most complete park in the country and will be a fitting home for a world's championship team.

Work will start shortly and it is expected that the stands and field will be in shape by August 15 for the first game. President James E. Gaffney has taken complete charge of building operations.

The new stands will seat over 40,000 people, and every late improvement for the comfort of the spectators will be installed. The stands are in six sections, running from left field to deep right field, with a wide section in centre field being open. They will be built of concrete.

The comfort of the "fans" was considered from the word go by President Gaffney, and those travelling from the city will enter directly to the stands from the cars.

Failure to Raise $100,000 Lost Club

CHICAGO, March 9—Failure of the Kansas City Blues to raise $100,000 was the reason given for the transfer of the team's franchise in the Federal League to Newark, N. The injunction was issued several days ago, when the Kansas City club owners learned that their franchise had been taken away.

JOHNSON BOUT AT HAVANA APRIL 3

HAVANA, March 9.—Jack Johnson and Jess Willard will meet in a fight for the world's heavyweight pugilistic championship at Havana on Saturday, April 3.

The last obstacle in the way of having the fight take place here was removed when Jack Curley, who engineered to have the men meet at Juarez, Mexico on March 6, received a cable from Willard saying that he would start immediately for Havana, arriving here from New Orleans March 15.

The terms for the fight are identical with those which would have prevailed had the encounter taken place at Juarez.

Curley will act as the chief promoter, and will be assisted by Richard Klegin, as managing director.

The site for the battle has not been selected, but several excellent places are available.

Johnson began training today. Willard will probably have training quarters at Marianao.

Paige and Frizzell Meet at Imperial

One of the best class A games seen in the balkline tournament at the Imperial, is expected tonight, when William Paige and Fred Frizzell meet. Their styles are as far apart as the two poles, but their results are pretty much the same.

Next to the best average that has been made in the tourney was contributed by Harry Parker in defeating Harold Horne, 200 to 157. Parker ran the game out in his fifty-second inning, for an average of 5 40-52, his play being at 18.2 balkline. The record of the tournament to date was the average of 6 made by William Paige in one of the early games.

Bill James Joins Braves

Holdout Pitcher Gives In

MACON, Ga., March 9.—Some six feet three and a fraction inches of athletic looking baseball talent has been added to the Braves. Bill James has reported, rather embonpoint, but still James, and the sentry's cry of "all's well" can now be heard on all sides of the Stallings' camp, as you might say.

Now that William is back—he registered at the headquarters of the world's champions yesterday—the web of Stallings' progress is now being spun along regular lines.

Heretofore everybody has been apparently more or less confident that the big spitballer would eventually show up, but even though all hands are at present endeavoring to act as if the arrival of the pitcher was nothing out of the usual, there is still a subdued, but at the same time noticeable air of satisfaction in all directions.

JAMES WEARS SELF-CONSCIOUS AIR.

For though the actions of the pitcher may have spurred some of his friends on him, the fact still remains that his addition to the ranks makes the Braves' outfit a much more formidable aggregation than would have been the case had he failed to ring the well-known time check.

Still it is likely to be quite some time before James feels at ease at home as a star pitcher should in the midst of his own teammates. The tear holdout wears a rather self-conscious air while getting used to the atmosphere of the camp, while the rest of the outfit is attempting with more or less success, mostly less, to act indifferent.

Arrival and all matters are not as well between the "Miracle Man" and the blonde giant as they might be. Stallings is naturally a bit peeved because James overlooked him in making his play for more capital.

When Bill strolled down to the field yesterday afternoon he met the boss for the first time, and a mere nod and a few queries about weight and condition comprised the managerial end of the conference.

James Is Ready to Go Through with Contract.

James himself, who, after a flock of consultations with the high moguls of the Federal League, has finally come to the conclusion that it is worth while to enjoy the applause that striking 'em out with the bases full brings, he must stay with Boston, says that he is ready to go through with his end of that pesky two-year contract.

"I thought I was entitled to more money," he declared this morning, "and I tried to get it. But now I am ready to fill my end of the contract with the Braves and I am starting out now to get in real condition for the season."

The Stallings side of the matter was crystallized up as follows by the "Miracle Man":

"Of course I am glad that James is with us. Real pitchers are hard to find, and a man needs all its stars. But I do think that James made a mistake in not trying to do business directly with me."

Big Spitball Hurler 20 Pounds Overweight.

"I have no doubt we could have fixed matters up between us to the complete satisfaction of both club and player. However, now that James is here I am sure he will do his best to get in trim and help us along to that flying start we are working for."

James appeared in uniform this morning and announced to the interested public that underneath he had assumed a rubber shirt. Bill is some twenty pounds or so over weight and has a lot of hard work ahead of him, but when he gets started he is a hale for work, so the rumors are that within a few days he will be in just as fine fettle as his compatriots.

Tom Hughes, who won that game against the Cubs last Fall and thereby made the Braves sure of the grand old pennant, blew in, rather unexpectedly, last evening. He has been coaching for a few weeks and appears to be as hard as nails. With the exception of Fitzpatrick, who is still holding back, the troupe is now complete.

Real Games Will Start Tomorrow.

Starting tomorrow we are going to have some real baseball, for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the team representing Mercer College, a local institution of learning, will play exhibition games with the champions. As the fence around the local ball yard has not yet been put up, we are of the opinion that the collegiate outfielders will be able to recover the drives that some of the champions are likely to let loose.

With the exhibition games in mind Stallings sent Rudolph and Tyler through some pitching paces yesterday afternoon, and is now wearing a broad grin every time he thinks of what the pair of them did.

The little master, meaning Rudolph, looked just about as good as he did in the middle of the hectic splurge last Fall, which, as the "fans" will recall, was some good. He had that slow ball that broke the heart of Eddie Collins, Frank Baker and sundry other Mackmen working to perfection, and also had his curve and spitter and everything else.

Dick Rudolph Halts the Braves' Bludgeons.

Rudolph put a sudden stop to the slugging that has been the general practice, despite the fact that it was the first time this year he has attempted anything in the twister line. He worked for about half an hour and showed so much that he is listed to go in against the college players in the very near future.

Tyler, though he has been rather off color for a day or two because of an unpleasant combination of fever and boils, donned the spangles again and also shaped up quite classily, hooking them over against the regular lineup. The youngsters followed, the whole raft of 'em, but the two "vets" were the only ones able to curb the Brave bludgeons.

BATTERY A MEETS ARENA TONIGHT

HOW TEAMS WILL LINE-UP

ARENA	BATTERY A.
Ford, Cloutier, l. w.	r. w., Furber
Downing, c.	c., Townsend
Brackett, r.	l. w., Percy
Agnnett, r. w.	l. w., Folsom
Skilton, d. p.	d. p., Foote, Huntington
Gaudet, p.	p., Minot
Small, g.	g., Chadwick

Much local interest is centered in the game tonight at the Arena between the Battery A seven and Arena team. The soldiers will have quite a few former and present day Harvard stars in their line-up.

America's leading goal tender, Ollie Chadwick, will be in the net for the soldiers. Captain Minot, the big Crimson football player, playing the best game of his hockey career, will support Ollie in front of the cage.

Either Freddie Huntington or Charley Foote will play cover. Huntington is anxious to rear up for the B. A. A.-St. Nicholas championship and it is not certain whether he will wear a Battery uniform tonight.

George Percy, the sensational little captain of the Harvard freshman team, will play rover. Townsend of the Crimson varsity will play centre. Folsom, wing man for the freshmen, will be on the right side, and Furber, a well-known club player, will be on the other end of the line.

Coach Fred Rocque will send a rearranged lineup against the soldiers now that Pop Conley and Patsey Soquin are unable to play because of injuries.

Ramsie Skilton, Doc Gaudet and Norman Small will be on the defense, which gives the A's their full strength in this department. The attack will be somewhat weakened though, with Ford, the old M. I. T. player, will be on the left wing, Frankie Downing will be at centre and Mickey Roach will rove. Red Synnott will be at his old station on the right wing.

Baltimore Fans Rush for Federal Seats

BALTIMORE, Md., March 9.—Early morning rumblings from organized baseball that efforts are being made to wean Benny Kauff, Vincent Campbell and Bill McKechnie away from the Federals did not dampen in the slightest the ardor of Baltimore "fans" in their first day for reserved seats for the opening game. Secretary Harry Goldman announced that all grandstand and box seats have been sold.

Phinney Boyle Makes a Hit in New York

NEW YORK, March 1.—Phinney Boyle of Lowell, Mass., showed more class in the boxing line than has been shown around here for some time, and what he did to Young Rector of Jersey, his opponent in the semi-final at the Olympic A. C., is beyond describing. He simply punched Rector from one corner of the ring to the other, but Rector was made of good stuff and managed to last ten rounds.

Freddie Burns May Quit Track Game for Good

Freddie Burns, former Exeter star and member of the B. A. A. track team, is through with running, at least for this season, if not for good. Freddie will probably stick to his intention to retire from the game for all time.

Burns sauntered into the B. A. A. clubhouse and handed Manager George Brown his pair of spiked shoes. He told Brown to give them to some runner whom they would fit. "It means," he said, "that I will not do any more running indoors this season, and I may never wear another running shoe. I figure that I have been long enough in the game and I will most likely give up running forever."

Burns holds many records at distances ranging from 100 to 300 yards.

Travis Home in 73.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 9.—Walter J. Travis turned in a card of 73 to a four-ball match, in which Jesse Guilford of Intervale was on the opposing side. Today Travis and Hamilton Kerr of Ekwanock play Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline, Mass., and Irving S. Robeson of Oakhill.

CANADIAN SPEED STARS RACE HERE

It looks as if the entries from the Maritime Provinces in the New England amateur speed championships, to be held at the Arena next Monday, would make a strong bid for the titles.

Billy Merritt, the old champion of that district, is training hard for the events and he has gathered together many other good entries from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Entries for one various events will close March 19 with E. W. Sammons, No. 52 Stanhope street, Boston, or Bernard J. Woods, Arena.

Tufts Loses Track Star.

"Babe" Tyler, '13, strained a cord in his knee and is lost to Tufts varsity relays.

Walter Johnson Now in Senators' Camp

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 9.—Walter Johnson, the Senators' great pitcher, dispelled all doubts as to where he would play this season by reporting to Manager Griffith here.

"The Feds have no claim on my services or that I am sure," said Johnson. "They have finally accepted the check for $6,000 I sent back to them, which represented the advance money. I realize now that I made a mistake when I listened to Tinker's proposition."

Griffiths Beats Azevedo

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 8.—Johnny Griffiths of Akron, O., defeated Joe Azevedo of Oakland, Calif., here in eight rounds of warring between a lightweight fighter and a welterweight boxer.

BILL M'KINNON WHIPS ROBINSON

GLOUCESTER, March 9.—Bill McKinnon of Roxbury won the decision over George Robinson of Cambridge after twelve rounds of rugged boxing at the Lenox A. C. preliminaries. Young Andrews of Gloucester stopped Young Adams of Salem with one punch, the first and only one delivered, and Young Buckley of South Boston floored "Dummy" Nixon of Gloucester in a round. Next Monday night Joe Egan and Terry Brooks will meet in the main bout.

Percival Beats Raffaele.

Percival defeated Raffaele, 200 to 155 in the fifty-fifth game of the Class B billiard tournament at the Elite.

ATTRACTIONS AT BOSTON PLAYHOUSES

'DANCING AROUND' AT THE SHUBERT

By FREDERICK JOHNS.

Who?
Al Jolson.
Where?
The Shubert.
What else?

Oh, the usual accommodation of girls, scenery, actors and actresses that go to make up a typical Winter Garden show.

The name of this particular visitation is "Dancing Around." It might just as well be something else, but as a description of the character of the entertainment it is accurate.

There was a packed audience at the Shubert last night. Also a picked one. All the boys from the clubs were there. The well-known men about town, the bon vivants in high hats. The standing room platoon was without an absentee. It was a joyous throng. There was an air of expectancy. Were they going to see anything the law would presently prohibit? The last Winter Garden show that came here gave a memorable first night performance and then it abruptly stepped out. They will have sold the house three times over for the first performance of "Dancing Around."

Al Jolson is the forty-two centimeter gun of the entertainment. Without him "Dancing Around" would never capture any cities. With him it captured that part of Boston which was present last night. The audience put up its white flag of surrender when Jolson got the whole house singing "Every Jolson Sings Solid Shirts for Soldiers." For an audience which has shed the sibilancy of this anthem is extremely difficult.

Jolson appears most of the time during the evening. He is a droll and effective performer under all circumstances, but when it comes to putting over a song or a humorous dynamic. He sings "Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me," "I'm Sailing Homeward 'mid the Snuffing Shrieks," and they are all of them hits. "Dancing Around" is expressly designed to let elaborate scenes. The most spectacular is a race between two railroad trains, which is the climax of the second act.

The music, by Rombourg and Caro Roll is snappy and full of the latest dance rhythms, but its mostly for the connoisseurs. And the drums. Aside from Jolson nobody in the show can sing particularly well. Lucy Weston is good to look at, but her singing voice is not much more than a peep. Kitty Doner is clever in a few dances like a whirlwind, but her songs also need a voice.

Frank Carter is an unusually good acrobatic dancer and plays such here as there is. Rae Boudini is amusing as a telephone operator of a type made famous by Gertrude Quinlan. Ashville Ellis plays piano and is surrounded by girls in dazzling gowns designed by him. The costumes in all the scenes are very effective, but in the Venetian carnival scene Ellis has been particularly happy.

Waldron's Casino.

Clarke's Royal Burlesquers are at Charlie Waldron's Casino all this week. An enthusiastic reception was given them by two capacity audiences. The company was seen in the rollicking two-act extravaganza entitled "The Love Club." The only breaks in the story are for the introduction of a few specialties and dances. Among the latter is the famous "Barbary Coast Dance of San Francisco," presented by pretty girls led by Earl and Marie Gates, Anderson in the center. Jane Pearson, Sarah Hyatt, Harry Bentley, Bert Wiggin, Harry Lee Van, Walter Pearson, Gates and Gates, Jeannette Mohr and Billie Davies.

National Theatre.

Maris Dressler of "Tillie's Nightmare" and countless Weber & Fields' shows, made her debut as a picture star yesterday afternoon at the National theatre, supported by Charles Chaplin and Mabel Normand in a six-part comedy, "Tillie's Punctured Romance." The play has the name of being the funniest motion picture ever made and in bringing her Miss Dressler and her support more than makes good on the boast. Even "Tillie" the fair but weighty countryside girl, Miss Dressler keeps the audience in a paroxysm of laughter from start to finish.

Bowdoin Square Theatre.

Gus Hornbrook's Broncho Busters, with Adele Nora Oh! as the star, provide a regular Wild West show at the Bowdoin Square this week. "Life's Ship Window" and "The Black Box" are film features that made a pronounced hit with the patrons of this house.

Plays That Remain

TREMONT—Wilson Jay in "Good Night, Paul."

CASTLE SQUARE—One hundredth performance of "Common Clay."

CORT—Richard Bennett in "Nearly Married" begins his fourth week.

PLYMOUTH—"The Third Party," with Taylor Holmes and Walter Jones.

HOLLIS STREET—Ann Murdock, "The Girl of Today."

ST. WILBUR—"A Pair of Sixes" enters its eleventh week.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE—Jewett Players in Shakespeare.

Park Theatre.

The program offered at the Park yesterday is one of a particularly delightful nature. Elsie Janis is seen in the leading role of the Essanay-Paramount Picture production, "The Caprices of Kitty." This is a comedy, romance written by herself, and is a photoplay that gives her countless opportunities to display her capabilities in this her first appearance as a photoplay star. The films are accompanied by appropriate selections by the Park orchestra and the Park organist.

Gaiety Theatre.

At the Gaiety yesterday, "The Girls from Happyland" opened to a capacity house. Those in the principal parts, Lola Merrill, whose act was one of the features, the company has a quartet of good comedians in Marty Ward, Frank Harcourt, John Bohlman and Jack Lee. The female entertainers include the three Creighton Sisters, Nellie Lockward and the four Hilton Girls. Ethel Hall, Lillian Hallan, Tessie Wellman and Emma Sarlo.

Scollay Square Olympia.

Large crowds witnessed a pleasing bill at the Scollay Square Olympia. The bill included the Six Cornellas in gymnastic offering; Charles Gibbs in songs, talk and imitations; Dayton and Lewis, eccentric comedians; Hickman Brothers and Company in "Two Ways to Look," Jack Levy and Symphony Girls, Frank Burke, story teller, and the Australian wonder, Tessie Wellman and Emma Sarlo.

Grand Opera House.

Burlesque honor of the marking mind, with pretty girls free from blights made the Jardin De Paris show one of the very best to be seen at the Grand Opera House this season. Billy McIntyre, who is the son of Jim McIntyre of the vaudeville team of McIntyre and Heath, proved that he is a chip of the old timber" and he is everywhere annexed.

Globe Theatre.

Heading an all star vaudeville show was Neil McKinley, eccentric comedy cut and song. Others appearing were William K. Saxton and Company, in "Cooks and Suits." Holmes and Riley, singing and talking. The added feature was the seventh episode of the "Exploits of Elaine."

St. James Theatre.

The show was headed by Fred Ardath, assisted by Ethel Arthur. As an act new to Boston was "Her Name Was Dolly," the popular and well colored entertainers Talbot and Green and Meredith and Blaney also appeared. The added feature was the eleventh episode of the "Exploits of Elaine."

BILL AT KEITH'S FULL OF FEATURES

A story is a story; but a story the way Walter C. Kelly tells it is a dream. When he told some of his Southern dialect stories at Keith's women became hysterical and he had to demand "Order in de cou't."

Mr. Kelly recently returned from a foreign tour and he brought back some stories of English court life that are the equal of his famous Virginia Judge stories.

In "Dreamland" is an unusual comedy in which Ben Smith and Belle Shayne and a company of dancers made a big hit. Shayne is a comedienne of the first class and Mahoney sang in good voice.

Overton Harrold, an American tenor, late of the Century Opera House, sang in magnificent voice "The Palms," by Jean Schneen. He responded in several encores.

A clever comedy is "Less Gossip," in which Mrs. Gene Hughes and an excellent supporting company appeared.

Bessie Wynn is a fascinating, gaiety singer. A clever trio is McDevitt, Kelly and Lucy in a new skit called "The Piano Movers and the Actress." Tuscano Brothers, famous Italian acrobats and Jugglers, and La Groix were high class vaudeville novelties. Ted Lorraine and Jack Goldie sang, talked and danced well and gave an interpretation of the modern dances. The Pathe weekly pictures were unusually interesting.

Keith's Bijou.

The artistic work of the Nelson Dupree Big Revue is the feature of the bill. With Barton Bachman at the piano this company presents a pleasing offering. Alva Ward, mezzo-contralto, is being held over for a second week. Tuscano Brothers, tenor and baritone Ashe, soprano, scored heavily. Completing the bill were the Aerial Bushes, Frank and Minnie Ardath, Australian wonder workers; Lighting Weston, comedy juggler; Hoyt Jeans, baseball juggler, and first run film plays.

Howard Athenaeum.

Jack Livingston gave a wonderful exhibition of baseball as a wrestler and demonstrated that she is quite at home on the stage. Lew Howard and Athenaeum contest. Tonight will be given for opponent Grace Turner, the Worcester girl, who did so well only a few nights ago. The Burlesque entertainment was contributed by the Tango Girls.

Tremont Theatre.

Next Monday evening the Tremont Theatre will present a dramatization of Jack London's novel, "The Sea Wolf." The leading character will be taken by Robert Drouet, and the marine elements of the spectacle will be established.

Colonial Theatre.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell will open at the Colonial Theatre next Monday evening. She will appear in "Pygmalion," by George Bernard Shaw, and she will have the assistance of the London company that appeared with her during her recent engagement in New York city.

Submarine Motion Pictures Shown at Boston Theatre

The submarine motion pictures that are displayed at the Boston Theatre are not alone the only camera achievements of their kind, but seem well nigh the superlative in photography. They were taken in the waters of the Bahama Islands.

By means of a diving bell, the Williamson brothers, sons of a famous American diver and inventor, made a voyage that surpasses imagination. The camera is shown in the midst of the fauna of the ocean bottom before the eyes of astonished fish, a maze of fish and coral, submarine gardens and meadows are transformed to films as dreamlike as a landscape.

These motion pictures show a diver at work upon the wreck of a ship. They show all kinds of big and little fish swimming fearlessly below the surface, treading their mazy dances of the sea that hitherto were unknown. Nothing like them has ever been pictured more thrilling than the battle to the death between a shark and one of the Williamson brothers.

Eleanor Painter to Resume Role at the Majestic

Eleanor Painter, prima donna of the operetta "The Lilac Domino" who has been ill since the Boston engagement of the company at the Majestic Theatre, is to sing tonight. It was expected that one would be able to gratify a Boston audience last night. But, much to Miss Painter's regret, she was not quite able to.

Announcement was made at the box office that Miss Painter will greet Boston this evening. Her role of Georgine was filled last night by Ethel Pettit, her clever understudy, who was warmly applauded by a large audience.

Wilfred Douthitt, the leading man of the operatic cast, sang with his common power last night. The slight cold which had annoyed him has disappeared.

Hollis Street Theatre.

Otis Skinner will open at the Hollis Street Theatre March 22, in "The Silent Voice." The company with him will be seen Mrs. Otis Skinner, Miss Pfeiler, Eugenia Woodward, Geo. Meech, George Gaul and Walter Scott.

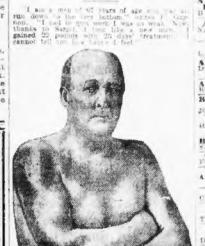
67 Years of Age Gains 22 Pounds In 23 Days

Remarkable Experience of F. Gagnon. Builds Up Weight Wonderfully



I was a mere bag of nerves and skin, a mere wreck, and I'm sure I was not long for this world. I was so weak, thin and run down that I could not do my work. I was all run down, had no appetite, could not sleep, was nervous and had pains in my back and kidneys. I gained 22 pounds over 23 days' treatment. I am now 67 years of age and feel like a new person.

PAST "THE PRIME," BUT STOUT, SETTING OUT TO FIGHT

After I had taken about six bottles of Tanlac I found that I had gained about 10 pounds in weight in a week later," writes Homer Dale, 1 Mill street, Rockland, Me. "I have taken in all five bottles and have gained 22 pounds in weight. I have also gotten my nerves so that I can sleep well and feel like a new person. I am now 67 years of age and feel like I am fully prepared to go through the world for 10 decades of good solid, sleep-done flesh, fat and muscle building. That is what Tanlac has done for me. Don't say it can't be done. Try it for yourself and see. Tanlac is sold by all druggists in Boston.

More than half a million thin men and women have gained pounds and put real flesh on their bones since they took this tonic for over-stout persons. Does more than tonics or strength creators or flesh builders. Does not make fat, but removes the cause—puts the digestive organs in order—then Nature does the building. Tanlac is a scientific combination of harmless roots, barks and herbs. Ask your druggist for it. Or write for free booklet to Tanlac Laboratories, Inc., 45-47 Herald Bldg., Binghamton, N. Y. Take Tanlac all your meals and watch the pounds pile on. This test will tell the story.

Volume Is Indicative Of Popularity

The Boston American carries more "Furnished Room" advertising every week than all other Boston daily and Sunday papers combined. This is the best kind of proof that the American is Boston's best "Furnished Room" medium. Advertisers successfully use the "Want Ad" columns of the American, because the public instinctively turns to them when a room is wanted.

The figures for week ending March 6th are given below just to show the popularity of the American

	American Globe Ads	Herald Ads	Post Ads	Trans. Ads	Jour. Ads
Sunday	211	350	27	2	12
Monday	178	21	21	12	2
Tuesday	167	39	20	2	4
Wednesday	179	40	20	16	2
Thursday	179	30	18	3	10
Friday	177	23	18	5	0
Saturday	172	20	16	1	1
The Total	1287	418	139	7	31

These figures should dispel any doubt you have in your mind concerning the value of the Boston American—both as a guide to the lodger and an aid to the advertiser

Perhaps some of your rooms are unoccupied. If so, the best way to fill them with desirable lodgers is through the "Furnished Room" columns of the Boston American. Send them in over the 'phone—Main 5180—or leave them at either office of the American.

BOSTON AMERICAN

60 AND 62 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, MARCH 9, 1915.

The Massachusetts Farmers Are Not Interested in the Fate of Mr. Walker

His Mistakes in the Office from Which Governor Walsh and Council Removed Him Were Harmful to the Interests of Agriculturists

The Republican machine is still making great efforts to induce the members of the Massachusetts State Grange and the farmers of Massachusetts to believe that the interests of the farmers suffered by the removal of Mr. Walker, Commissioner of Animal Industry, by the Governor and Council.

It is not difficult for the Republican machine to make a noise in the State Grange, because most of the active officers of the grange are Republican politicians. But the farmers of Massachusetts can see as far through a millstone as any other class of citizens. They will require from the politicians who officer the grange SOME EVIDENCE of the harm which it is pretended that the removal of Mr. Walker has caused the farmers.

The AMERICAN ventures the prediction that no evidence will ever be offered by these grange politicians in proof of their statements and in support of their agitation against Governor Walsh for the removal of Mr. Walker. It is a safe prediction, for there is no evidence to offer.

On the contrary the evidence all tends to prove that the removal of Mr. Walker was a benefit to the farmers and was so intended by Governor Walsh.

If the office which Mr. Walker held had ANY advantage to the farmers, it was to enable them to keep their cattle free from infectious diseases which destroy them. Now one of the charges against Mr. Walker's fitness for his office was that he either negligently or ignorantly failed to take proper precautions against the introduction of the foot-and-mouth disease in this Commonwealth. Mr. Walker HIMSELF ADMITS that he knew of the existence of the dreaded foot-and-mouth disease in several States from which cattle come to Massachusetts as early as the fifteenth of last October. Six days later, on the twenty-first of October, one of his own deputies warned him by telegraph of an outbreak of the disease in Buffalo and warned him also of the danger that this disease might be carried from the neighborhood of Buffalo to the yards of Brighton. He knew that if the disease reached the stock yards at Brighton, it would immediately be distributed over the State and this disease WAS actually distributed over the State A WEEK LATER.

But Mr. Walker took no precautions to prevent the coming into Massachusetts of the diseased cattle from Buffalo or its vicinity, although he had full power under the law so to do. The law expressly provides that "if animals are brought into this Commonwealth from places outside, which, in the opinion of the board, are infected, they may be seized and quarantined by the commissioners at the expense of their owners or consignees so long as the public safety requires." A timely exercise of this power by Mr. Walker WOULD have prevented the dispersion of infected cattle into more than forty Massachusetts herds affected.

Here is an exhibition of a man whose office was established to protect the owners of cattle from infectious diseases and who has full power by law to protect our cattle. Here is a man occupying such an office, charged with such a duty and having such a power, who received a telegram from an agent of his own department warning him that the foot-and-mouth disease had been discovered in Buffalo and warning him also that infected cattle may have gone to the Brighton yards. Here is a man who is charged with such duties and with such powers who receives such a warning from his own agent and yet who neglects to quarantine the Brighton yards and allows the cattle in that yard to be dispersed among the herds of the State where they scattered the foot-and-mouth disease a week later.

Now does any granger politician or intelligent member of the Republican machine believe that a farmer worth his salt would consider Mr. Walker a competent man to protect the cattle of this Commonwealth after such an exhibition of incompetence in this grave foot-and-mouth crisis?

Mr. Walker was not even intelligent in his method of providing for the compensation of the farmer whose cattle were condemned by the State for foot-and-mouth disease. No reliable records were kept concerning the value of the cattle destroyed and the farmer was thus subjected to the liability of costly and protracted effort to recover the value of the cattle destroyed.

There was no way by which the farmers could obtain compensation for cattle, so Governor Walsh recommended in his inaugural address the passage of a law appropriating money for the farmers who had lost their cattle. The Republican machine, playing politics as usual and desiring that the money should not come as a result of the Governor's recommendation, pigeonholed the recommendation FOR TWO WEEKS and then passed a bill, which was so defectively drawn that the Governor was obliged to veto it because it DID NOT PROVIDE ANY MEANS BY WHICH THE MONEY COULD BE PAID OUT TO THE FARMERS. The Attorney-General agreed with the Governor that the farmers could receive no money under the defective provisions of this bill. The lawyers who were representing the farmers warned the Republican committee that this bill was defective, but they paid no attention whatever to the warning. Where were the grange politicians in the Legislature, like Mr. Edward E. Chapman of Ludlow, when this miserable hoax pretending to provide for the remuneration of the farmers was allowed to pass?

Perhaps now they will adopt the Governor's recommendation that the farmers should be compensated for their losses by a properly drawn law.

Let us see what these granger politicians who do not represent the great body of the grange members will do with the Governor's recommendation for an investigation of the milk situation, in which the farmers are getting less for the milk they sell, and the people generally are constantly paying more for the milk they buy. Will they help to kill it in the interest of the milk trust, or will they help to pass it in the interest of the farmers and all the people who use milk?

Perpetual Laughter Is a Bad Fault in Women, Warns Dorothy Dix

By DOROTHY DIX

A WOMAN writes me that she and her husband are in a perpetual family spat because she laughs all the time. She declares that she just can't make her laugh behave, and so she wants to know what to do with her husband.

I am free to say that in this case my sympathies go out to the husband. The woman who smiles is delightful. The woman who has a funny bone, and who laughs at the right time and place is enchanting. But of all bores under the sun none is so insufferable as the woman with the continuous performance laugh.

We have all met her, and we would all go miles out of our way to avoid meeting her again. What it must be to be married to a wife afflicted with a chronic laugh fills one's heart with pity for the martyr who has to endure it. Certainly any man who stands it is entitled to the iron cross of the hero for having gotten the double cross in matrimony.

Cheerful Woman Very Different from One Who Is Always Laughing

Of course, a nice cheerful woman, one who in temperamentally optimistic and who always looks on the bright side of things, is God's best gift to a man. She's like a ray of sunshine about a house, and makes bright the dark places of domesticity, but the cheerful woman and the woman who is a perpetual laugher are as far apart as the poles.

The woman who laughs in season and out of season is a fakir. She is a poseur. She is putting on what she does not feel, for daily life is not a funny affair, and there's nothing in it to excite one's risibilities.

Nor is there any mirth in the laughter of the woman who is forever laughing. It's like the crackling of thorns under a pot, or the braying of a donkey, or any other meaningless sound that you can imagine. A real laugh, a laugh that bubbles up suddenly and spontaneously from some well of humor that has just been tapped, is as contagious as the measles. Everybody catches it, but nobody is ever incited to join in the hysterical cackle of the woman who keeps her laughter always on tap, and turns it on whenever a stranger approaches.

The woman who laughs all the time, in season and out of season, has no sense of humor, or else she wouldn't do it. She is one of the poor, silly, henbrained creatures, who have been told by some enemy that they are vivacious, and who feel called upon, ever after, to live up to the part.

You see them, young girls who would be nice and attractive if they didn't shriek and howl, and giggle and cackle until they resemble nothing on earth so much as the laughing hyena in the zoo. Everybody condemns them for being loud, and they get the reputation for being fast and sporty, when all the deluded poor dears are doing is trying to be vivacious. More pitiful still, we see haggard old women flashing their false teeth, rolling their faded old eyes, and giggling, and smirking, and laughing their tin-pan laughter because, in their youth, they also had somebody wish the curse of vivacity on them.

Woman Makes No Greater Mistake Than by Indulging in Abnormal Gayety

No woman ever makes a greater mistake than when she thinks she renders herself attractive to men by being abnormally gay, and forever laughing.

To begin with, men are afraid of the woman who laughs, because they are always afraid that the women are laughing at them. Men are curiously sensitive to a woman's opinion, and the mere suspicion that they might possibly look ridiculous to the laugher, and furnish the subject for her mirth, sends them shivering with cold suspicion away from her vicinity. The vivacious maiden who goes off into peals of laughter never is a belle. It takes your dumb little maiden, who has to have a joke diagramed for her, to trail processions of beaux in her wake.

When a man thinks about a home, and the kind of a woman he wants in it, he doesn't think of a woman who is a sputtering piece of human fireworks. He doesn't think of a loud woman, nor a noisy woman, nor a woman who will be forever grinning around.

He thinks of a quiet and peaceful woman, a woman who is full of sympathy and tenderness and pity; a woman to whom he can come with all his troubles and worries and cares. A woman in whose eyes there will be the softness of tears. That's the kind of a woman he wants to marry. A woman who will be restful, not a laughing machine grinding out its wearisome cachinations.

Women know little of men if they think they make a hit with them by perpetual laughter. It's the lassie who weeps on the second button of a man's waistcoat that he invites to accompany him to the altar.

Wives Should Dispense Their Laughter in Homeopathic Doses; Smile Is Best

These few words are not to discourage the sense of humor in women. Far from it. There is only one worse thing than the inability of a woman to see the point of a good story, and that is for her to laugh before the story is told. Also the only thing that enables a woman to endure matrimony with fortitude is perceiving how funny it really is.

But let the woman who wishes to catch a husband and the one who has one and desires to keep him, can her laughter, and dispense it in homeopathic doses. Remember that the one picture above all others that has caught and held the fancy of men for ages is that of Mona Lisa with the soft, inscrutable, maddening smile, that has kept them guessing as to what she meant.

And it still works, that smile.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

In Wonderland!

THERE is not a sound of welcome as I enter at the door,
Not a fall of little footsteps tripping lightly on the floor.
All the house is hushed and silent, and in answer to my call—
Save for melancholy echoes—there is no reply at all.
For the one who used to meet me with her eager eyes aglow,
Has departed for a country where no voice of mine may go.
And no more I wake the echoes, for at once I understand
That she's far away with Alice in the realm of Wonderland.

PRESENTLY I find her pillowed in a cozy fireside chair.
While the dancing flames glow rosy on her tousled shining hair.
Book in hand, and eyebrows puckered, while she journeys to and fro
In the land that's wrought of dream-stuff, where dream-people come and go.
Where the things we see about us as real life we journey through,
Speak and walk and play and gambol very much as people do.
Save a soft and fluttering breathing there is not a single sound
As my small explorer wanders through the Wonderland she's found.

MANY long and wondrous travels may be hers to take some day,
Through the marvels of creation she perhaps may find her way.
From the palm trees to the pine trees and the lands that lie between,
She may watch the races changing with each shifting of the scene,
But I doubt if all the wonders that her eyes can e'er behold—
Mountains, oceans, shining rivers, palaces that glow with gold—
Will be half so fascinating and so marvelous to view
As the pathways trod by Alice when this Wonderland was new!

Bundle Day Committee Returns Thanks to a Generous Public

To the public which contributed so quickly and generously to Bundle Day we desire to give our heartiest thanks in the name of those whose burden was relieved by their donations.

Nothing could be finer than the assistance that was given in the distribution by loyal women and kindly men.

Bundle Day was a great success because of the combined work of scores who helped.

His Honor, Mayor James M. Curley, for the city, kindly gave the use of the former department building at No. 11 Wareham street as headquarters.

The assistance of teamsters, automobile owners and dealers, expressmen and express companies, settlement workers and social students, women of leisure and women workers, the police and city officials, is gratefully acknowledged.
